1 I. Introduction

2 The underlying motion for summary judgment is simple, straightforward, 3 and based upon a few simple irrefutable defenses:

- 4 • First, Plaintiff lacks standing to prosecute the underlying action against 5 Gordon Defendants because of the constitutional infirmity regarding the 6 appointment of the Director of the Consumer Financial Protection 7 Bureau;
- 8 • Second, even if Plaintiff did have standing, Gordon Defendants are not 9 covered under the statutory claims that comprise Plaintiff’s action; and
- 10 • Finally, even if this Court were to overlook the foregoing irrefutable 11 defenses, the program at issue was lawful based on the contracts at issue 12 and the integration clause contained therein.

13 Thus, summary judgment may be granted on any of three defenses, namely (1) 14 Plaintiff lacks standing, (2) the Gordon Defendants are not covered under the 15 claims being prosecuted, and, (3) any alleged actionable conduct is refuted by the 16 clear unambiguous language of incorporated contracts.

17 18 II. Legal Standards

19 Rule 56(a), F.R.C.P. states that” “The court shall grant summary judgment if 20 the movant shows that there is no genuine dispute as to any material fact and the 21 movant is entitled to judgment as a matter of law.” The moving party has the 22 burden of demonstrating the absence of a genuine issue of fact for trial. See

Law Office of Gary Kurtz, A.P.L.C.
20335 Ventura Boulevard, Suite 200
Woodland Hills, California 91364

1 Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc., 477 U.S. 242, 256, 106 S.Ct. 2505, 2514 (1986); 2 British Airways Board v. Boeing Co., 585 F.2d 946, 951 (9th Cir. 1978). To do so, 3 defendant must present sufficient evidence to demonstrate its entitlement to 4 summary judgment. Lopez v. Corporation Azucarera de Puerto Rico, 938 F.2d 5 1510 (1st Cir. 1991).

6 If Defendant satisfies its initial burden, then Plaintiff must establish a 7 genuine issue of material fact. A factual dispute is genuine if the evidence is such 8 that a rational trier of fact could resolve the dispute in favor of the nonmoving 9 party. Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc., 477 U.S. 242, 248, 106 S. Ct. 2505, 91 L.
10 Ed. 2d 202 (1986). Even after Celotex Corp. v. Catrett, 477 U.S. 317, 91 L.Ed.2d 11 265, 106 S.Ct. 2548 (1986), courts in this circuit “require very little evidence to 12 survive summary judgment.” Sischo-Nownejad v. Merced Community College
13 District, 934 F.2d 1104, 1111 (9th Cir. 1991). The adjudication of a summary 14 judgment motion is not a "trial on affidavits." Birdsong v. State Farm, 1997 U.S.
15 Dist. LEXIS 18504 (N.D. Cal. 1997) (citing Anderson v. Liberty Lobby Inc., 477 16 U.S. 242, 255, 91 L.Ed. 2d 202, 106 S. Ct. 2505 (1986)).

17 Summary judgment may not be used to resolve credibility issues. Lendino v.
18 Trans Union Credit Information Co., 970 F.2d 1110 (2nd Cir. 1992). Factual 19 inferences must be viewed in the light most favorable to the nonmoving party.
20 Matsushita Elec. Industrial Co. v. Zenith Radio Corp., 475 U.S. 574, 587, 89 L.Ed.
21 2d 538, 106 S.Ct. 1348 (1986); International Shortstop, Inc. v. Rally’s, Inc., 939 F.

1 2d 1257 (1991); Chipolini v. Spencer Gifts, Inc., 814 F.2d 893 (3d Cir. 1987); 2 Lemnitzer v. Philippine Airlines, Inc., 816 F.Supp. 1141, 1149 (N.D. Cal. 1992).

3 In the instant case, summary judgment is based on very few items of fact, 4 each of which are beyond any legitimate dispute.

6 III. Plaintiff Lacks Standing Because Its Director Was Not Lawfully 7 Appointed And Does Not Validly Hold His Position.

8 9 A. Plaintiff Lacked Jurisdiction Over Non-Banking Persons

10 Plaintiff was established as the result of the Dodd-Frank Act, which 11 provided plenary powers, many of which were transferred from other agencies.
12 These powers, and direction for the fledgling agency were outlined in a July 15, 13 2011 report of the Office of Inspector General, which was entitled “Review of 14 CFPB Implementation Planning Activities” (hereinafter “OIG Report”). See 12 15 U.S.C. § 5496b. The Gordon Defendants ask this Court to take Judicial notice of 16 the OIG Report.

17 Page 2 of the OIG report explains that “As mandated by the Dodd-Frank 18 Act, a presidentially appointed, Senate-confirmed director is to lead the agency. A 19 CFPB Director has not yet been appointed.” Page 4 of the OIG Report contains 20 the following significant limitations on the CFPB’s authority and powers:

21 In addition to the transferred functions, CFPB has newly-established 22 federal consumer financial regulatory authorities. The Treasury 23 Secretary is not permitted to perform certain newly-established CFPB authorities if there is no Director by the designated transfer date. For 1 example, if there is no Director by the designated transfer date, in 2 general, the Treasury Secretary is not permitted to exercise the 3 authority to:

- 4 • prohibit unfair, deceptive, or abusive acts or practices under subtitle 5 C in connection with consumer financial products and services;
- 6 • prescribe rules and require model disclosure forms under subtitle C 7 to ensure that the features of a consumer financial product or 8 service are fairly, accurately, and effectively disclosed both 9 initially and over the term of the product or service;
- 10 • prescribe rules under section 1022 relating to, among other things, 11 the filing of limited reports to CFPB for the purpose of determining 12 whether a nondepository institution should be supervised by 13 CFPB;
- 14 • supervise nondepository institutions under section 1024, including 15 the authority to (a) prescribe rules defining the scope of 16 nondepository institutions subject to CFPB’s supervision, (b) 17 prescribe rules establishing recordkeeping requirements that CFPB 18 determines are needed to facilitate nondepository supervision, and 19 (c) conduct examinations of nondepository institutions.

20 In summary, the CFPB will not gain authority to bring enforcement actions 21 against non banking persons (natural or legal) until “a presidentially appointed, 22 Senate-confirmed director is to lead the agency.”

23 CFPB’s director, Richard Cordray, was appointed by President Obama on January 4, 2012, and was not confirmed by the United States Senate. The significance of this unconfirmed appointment was the subject of review in Canning
v. N.L.R.B., 705 F.3d 490 (D.C. Cir. 2013), which tested the constitutional validity

Law Office of Gary Kurtz, A.P.L.C.
20335 Ventura Boulevard, Suite 200
Woodland Hills, California 91364

1 of “three members [of the NLRB who] were all appointed by the President on 2 January 4, 2012, purportedly pursuant to the Recess Appointments Clause of the 3 Constitution, U.S. Const. art. II, § 2, cl. 3.” According to the Canning Court, the 4 presidential appoints on that day were not valid “intrasession recess” appointments 5 for a variety of well explained reasons. As a result, the NLRB’s order was vacated, 6 and the Court of Appeals refused to enforce an invalid order.

7 The CFPB’s director, Richard Cordray, was appointed on the same day as 8 the NLRB members with President Obama using the same invalid usurpation of 9 legislative authority. Thus, according to the reasoning of the D.C. Circuit Court of 10 Appeals, enforcement actions initiated during the Cordray reign, including the 11 instant action, would be constitutionally invalid. The instant situation is even more 12 infirm than the NLRB situation because the OIG Report specifically requires the 13 CFPB to have “a presidentially appointed, Senate-confirmed director ... to lead the 14 agency.” There has been no Senate confirmation of the CFBP’s director Richard 15 Cordray.

16
17 B. Plaintiff’s Decision To Prosecute This Action Is Invalid

18 The invalidity of the appointment of Plaintiff’s Director also invalidates 19 actions initiated under his auspices. In N.L.R.B. v. New Vista Nursing and 20 Rehabilitation, 2013 WL 2099742 (3d Cir. 2013), the Third Circuit Court of 21 Appeals dealt with “intrasession” appointments, holding:
22
23

1 We hold that “the Recess of the Senate” in the Recess Appointments 2 Clause refers to only intersession breaks. As a consequence, we 3 conclude that the National Labor Relations Board panel below lacked 4 the requisite number of members to exercise the Board’s authority because one panel member was invalidly appointed during an intrasession break.

5 In that case, the court considered the jurisdictional issue sua sponte and 6 invalidated an order of a NLRB delegee group because one of the members had 7 been appointed during an intrasession break. The New Vista court was concerned 8 with the jurisdictional limitations on administrative agencies, which in the New 9 Vista case involved adjudicatory powers. The New Vista court held that one of the 10 3-member delegee group was invalidly appointed during an intrasession recess, so 11 the group (which required 3 members) lacked jurisdiction to issue orders. As a 12 result, the challenged order was deemed to be invalid.

13 Applied to the instant case, the constitutional invalidity involved in the 14 appointment of Director Cordray, invalidates all decisions under his reign, 15 including the decision to prosecute the instant action.

16 17 C. The Foregoing Points Provide Grounds For Summary Judgment

18 Rarely are the grounds for a court to make a dispositive ruling so 19 unambiguous and crystal clear. Adhering to the doctrine of stare decisis, this Court 20 can only conclude that the appointment of Richard Cordray as director of the 21 CFPB was legally invalid. The next analytical step would branch in two 22 directions, namely (a) the invalidation of any action against non-bank persons, and/23

1 or (b) the invalidation of every exercise of power by the Bureau. Naturally, that 2 would send a clear message that jurisdictional limits to administrative agency 3 power must be respected. In either event, summary judgment is mandated in the 4 instant case.

6 IV. The First Three Counts of The Complaint Fail Because Defendants Are 7 Not Covered Persons or Providers

8 Plaintiff asserts the first three counts of the complaint under the Consumer 9 Financial Protection Act, 12 U.S.C. §§ 5531 to 5536. Plaintiff may only take 10 action against “a covered person or service provider.” 12 U.S.C. § 5531(a).

11 Critical definitions are found in 12 U.S.C. § 5481, as follows:

12 (5) Consumer financial product or service.

13 The term “consumer financial product or service” means any financial product or service that is described in one or more categories under—

14 (A) paragraph (15) and is offered or provided for use by consumers primarily for personal, family, or household purposes; or 15 (B) clause (i), (iii), (ix), or (x) of paragraph (15)(A), and is 16 delivered, offered, or provided in connection with a consumer financial product or service referred to in subparagraph (A).

17 (6) Covered person.

18 The term “covered person” means—

19 (A) any person that engages in offering or providing a consumer financial product or service; and 20 (B) any affiliate of a person described in subparagraph (A) if such 21 affiliate acts as a service provider to such person.

22 (15) Financial product or service.

23 (A) In general. The term “financial product or service” means—

1 (i) extending credit and servicing loans, including acquiring, 2 purchasing, selling, brokering, or other extensions of credit (other than 3 solely extending commercial credit to a person who originates 4 consumer credit transactions);

5 (ii) extending or brokering leases of personal or real property 6 that are the functional equivalent of purchase finance arrangements, if

7 (I) the lease is on a non-operating basis;

8 (II) the initial term of the lease is at least 90 days; and 9 (III) in the case of a lease involving real property, at the 10 inception of the initial lease, the transaction is intended to result in 11 ownership of the leased property to be transferred to the lessee, 12 subject to standards prescribed by the Bureau;

13 (iii) providing real estate settlement services, except such 14 services excluded under subparagraph (C), or performing appraisals of 15 real estate or personal property;

16 (iv) engaging in deposit-taking activities, transmitting or 17 exchanging funds, or otherwise acting as a custodian of funds or any 18 financial instrument for use by or on behalf of a consumer;

19 (v) selling, providing, or issuing stored value or payment 20 instruments, except that, in the case of a sale of, or transaction to 21 reload, stored value, only if the seller exercises substantial control 22 over the terms or conditions of the stored value provided to the 23 consumer where, for purposes of this clause—

(I) a seller shall not be found to exercise substantial control over the terms or conditions of the stored value if the seller is not a party to the contract with the consumer for the stored value product, and another person is principally responsible for establishing the terms or conditions of the stored value; and

(II) advertising the nonfinancial goods or services of the seller on the stored value card or device is not in itself an exercise of substantial control over the terms or conditions;

(vi) providing check cashing, check collection, or check guaranty services;

1 (vii) providing payments or other financial data processing 2 products or services to a consumer by any technological means, 3 including processing or storing financial or banking data for any 4 payment instrument, or through any payments systems or network 5 used for processing payments data, including payments made through 6 an online banking system or mobile telecommunications network, 7 except that a person shall not be deemed to be a covered person with 8 respect to financial data processing solely because the person—

9 (I) is a merchant, retailer, or seller of any nonfinancial 10 good or service who engages in financial data processing by 11 transmitting or storing payments data about a consumer exclusively 12 for purpose of initiating payments instructions by the consumer to pay 13 such person for the purchase of, or to complete a commercial 14 transaction for, such nonfinancial good or service sold directly by such 15 person to the consumer; or 16 (II) provides access to a host server to a person for 17 purposes of enabling that person to establish and maintain a website;

18 (viii) providing financial advisory services (other than services 19 relating to securities provided by a person regulated by the 20 Commission or a person regulated by a State securities Commission, 21 but only to the extent that such person acts in a regulated capacity) to 22 consumers on individual financial matters or relating to proprietary 23 financial products or services (other than by publishing any bona fide newspaper, news magazine, or business or financial publication of general and regular circulation, including publishing market data, news, or data analytics or investment information or recommendations that are not tailored to the individual needs of a particular consumer), including—

(I) providing credit counseling to any consumer;

and

(II) providing services to assist a consumer with debt management or debt settlement, modifying the terms of any extension of credit, or avoiding foreclosure;

(ix) collecting, analyzing, maintaining, or providing consumer report information or other account information, including

1 information relating to the credit history of consumers, used or 2 expected to be used in connection with any decision regarding the 3 offering or provision of a consumer financial product or service, except to the extent that—

(I) a person—

4 (aa) collects, analyzes, or maintains information 5 that relates solely to the transactions between a consumer and such 6 person;

7 (bb) provides the information described in item 8 (aa) to an affiliate of such person; or

9 (cc) provides information that is used or expected 10 to be used solely in any decision regarding the offering or provision of 11 a product or service that is not a consumer financial product or 12 service, including a decision for employment, government licensing, 13 or a residential lease or tenancy involving a consumer; and 14 (II) the information described in subclause (I)(aa) is not 15 used by such person or affiliate in connection with any decision 16 regarding the offering or provision of a consumer financial product or 17 service to the consumer, other than credit described in section 5517(a) 18 (2)(A) of this title;

19 (x) collecting debt related to any consumer financial product or 20 service; and 21 (xi) such other financial product or service as may be defined by 22 the Bureau, by regulation, for purposes of this title, [1] if the Bureau 23 finds that such financial product or service is—

(I) entered into or conducted as a subterfuge or with a purpose to evade any Federal consumer financial law; or

(II) permissible for a bank or for a financial holding company to offer or to provide under any provision of a Federal law or regulation applicable to a bank or a financial holding company, and has, or likely will have, a material impact on consumers.

1 The Gordon Defendants do not fit within the definition of a “covered 2 person” even pursuant to very expansive definitions. The key definition is 3 “consumer financial product or service.” The only potentially close category is 4 found in subsection (viii), however, even that does not apply here because it does 5 not mention providing custom legal products. All additional work - particularly the 6 work to avoid foreclose -- was performed for the consumers and for free, so they 7 would not fit within the meaning of “financial advisory services” [emphasis 8 supplied] Accordingly, Plaintiff lacks authority to prosecute.

9
10 V. The Final Counts Fail Because Defendants Did Not Provide Mortgage 11 Assistance Relief Services As Defined By Regulation O

12 Counts IV through VII, inclusive, of the complaint assert different claims 13 under Regulation O, which is codified 12 CFR § 1015, et seq. Again, Plaintiff’s 14 claims fail at the threshold level. 12 CFR § 1015.2 is the Definitions section of the 15 regulation. Specifically, 12 CFR § 1015.2 includes the following definitions:

16 Mortgage Assistance Relief Service means any service, plan, or 17 program, offered or provided to the consumer in exchange for 18 consideration, that is represented, expressly or by implication, to assist 19 or attempt to assist the consumer with any of the following: [omitted] [emphasis supplied]

20 Mortgage Assistance Relief Service Provider or Provider means any 21 person that provides, offers to provide, or arranges for others to 22 provide, any mortgage assistance relief service. [exclusions omitted]

1 The regulatory prohibitions only apply to Mortgage Assistance Relief Service 2 Providers. 12 CFR § 1015.2; 12 CFR § 1015.4. Similarly, the disclosure 3 requirements only apply to Mortgage Assistance Relief Service Providers. 12 CFR 4 § 1015.4. Accordingly, the Regulation O claims fail if the service, plan, or program 5 is offered without consideration.

6 Since the implementation of the MARS Act, The Gordon Defendants offered 7 two different programs. The first program was a pre-litigation program, which was 8 offered for fees, as defined by engagement agreements. The second program was a 9 pro bono (free) loan modification program, as defined by separate engagement 10 agreements. The assistance for the specifically defined loan modification services 11 was provided for NO compensation.

12 While the agreement as modified from time to time, the essential terms of 13 the Pre-Litigation Agreement survived each generation. One example was 14 produced at a deposition taken by Plaintiff, which is a representative example. The 15 pay program involves a demand letter, a qualified written request, and a draft 16 lawsuit. None of these services fits within the services listed in 12 CFR § 1015.2.
17 In addition, paragraph 9 of the agreement is an integration clause.

18 Both agreements were self contained and fully integrated. Both agreements 19 provide for totally different performance obligations with no overlap. One 20 agreement required payment for custom leal products. The other agreement 21 provided loan modification services for free. Plaintiff would have this Court meld 22 the two agreements in violation of the applicable contract law.

1           A.     The Doctrine of Estoppel By Contract Applies

2           The terms of the written agreements govern the relationship between the 3 parties thereto pursuant to the doctrine of estoppel by contract. That doctrine is 4 codified in the California Evidence Code § 622, as follows:

5                     The facts recited in a written instrument are conclusively 6 presumed to be true as between the parties thereto, or their 7 successors in interest; but this rule does not apply to the recital of 8 a consideration.

9           That Evidence Code section and the common law doctrine upon which it is 10 based both provide for a conclusive presumption that the facts contained in the 11 contract are true. See Plaza Freeway Ltd. Partnership v. First Mountain Bank, 81 12 Cal.App.4th 616 (2000). As between the parties to a contract, “the doctrine of 13 estoppel by contract” stands for the proposition that “a party to a contract is 14 generally estopped to deny essential facts recited therein.” In re Marriage of 15 Brooks, 169 Cal.App.4th 176, 184 (2009). That doctrine has also been interpreted 16 to mean that without credible evidence that an agreement “was altered or rescinded 17 by the parties, the terms of the contract are binding on the parties and their 18 successors.” In re Estate of Wilson, 64 Cal.App.3d 786, 801 (1977).

19           Thus, the parties to the two agreements at issue may not be heard to contradict 20 their terms and limitations. It is conclusively presumed that the pay agreement 21 contains no products or services that fit within the scope of the MARS laws, and 22 the free agreement does not within the scope of the MARS laws because the 23 services are NOT offered for consideration.

1           B.     The Integration Clause Precludes Consideration Of Alleged Facts
2                           Contrary To The Contract Terms

3           California Civil Code § 1856(a) codifies the law on the subject and states:

4           Terms set forth in a writing intended by the parties as a final 5           expression of their agreement with respect to such terms as are 6           included therein may not be contradicted by evidence of any prior 7           agreement or of a contemporaneous oral agreement.

8           Similarly, California Civil Code § 1625 states: “The execution of a contract in 9           writing, whether the law requires it to be written or not, supersedes all the 10          negotiations or stipulations concerning its matter which preceded or accompanied 11          the execution of the instrument

12          The first issue is to determine whether the parties intended a written contract 13          to be the the exclusive embodiment of their agreement. Masterson v. Sine, 68 Cal.
14          2d 222, 225 (1968). “California cases have stated that whether there was an 15          integration is to be determined solely from the face of the instrument [citations 16          omitted].” Masterson, supra., 68 Cal.2d at 225; Lonely Maiden Productions, LLC 17          v. Goldentree Asset Management, LP, 201 Cal.App.4th 368, 376 (2011). “The 18          existence of an integration clause is a key factor in divining that intent.” Grey v.
19          American Management Services, 204 Cal.App.4th 803, 807 (2012). The Pre-20          Litigation Agreement, which is the only agreement that contains a payment 21          obligation, is fully integrated with an integration clause.

22          ///

23          ///

1 Once it is determined that a contract is integrated, then the rule is as follows:

2 When the parties to a written contract have agreed to it as an 3 ‘integration’—a complete and final embodiment of the terms of an 4 agreement—parol evidence cannot be used to add to or vary its terms.

5 Masterson, supra., 68 Cal.2d at 225. This means that “extrinsic evidence cannot 6 be used to contradict or supplement an agreement if it is intended to be a final 7 expression of that agreement and a complete and exclusive statement of the terms.” 8 Lonely Maiden Productions, LLC, supra., 201 Cal.App.4th at 376; See also 9 Trautman v. Southland Corp., 842 F.Supp. 386 (N.D. Cal. 1993)(“The [parol 10 evidence] rule is based on the premise that the written agreement constitutes the 11 final and absolute expression of the result of all negotiations.”).

12 The Pre-Litigation Agreement is both integrated in its terms and contains an 13 integration clause. Nothing in the Pre-Litigation Agreement fits within the scope of 14 services (or products) regulated pursuant to Regulation O. See 12 CFR § 1015.2.
15 Plaintiff cannot be heard to contradict the express language in the contract.

16 Clients were also eligible to receive the Attorney/Client Pro Bono Legal 17 Agreement. Again, this contract evolved, but its essential terms survived each 18 generation. A representative example was also produced at a deposition taken by 19 Plaintiff. The Pro Bono Legal Agreement provides for a number of different 20 mortgage relief services, which are provided “[f]or no fee, cost, or charge 21 whatsoever. . . .”

22 As reflected in the written contracts subject of this action, Gordon 23 Defendants conduct in charging people for custom litigation products would not

1 constitute a “mortgage relief service”. The plain language of this contract clearly 2 identified the scope of work which Gordon Defendants were being compensated 3 for which was preparing; 1) draft federal complaint, 2) a qualified written request, 4 and, 3) a demand letter. Nothing within this agreement involved charging 5 customers a fee for anything constituting a mortgage assistance relief service.

6 Plaintiff does not have jurisdiction under Regulation O unless this Court 7 disregards the express language of the contracts at issue. The parol evidence rule 8 prevents Plaintiff and this Court from revising the deal between the Gordon 9 Defendants and the parties with whom they contracted. In fact, the parol evidence 10 rule expressly prohibits that type of revisionist history. Thus, summary 11 adjudication on Counts IV through VII, inclusive, should be granted because the 12 Gordon Defendants charged no fee or consideration for “any service, plan, or 13 program” contained in the long list of items constituting a “Mortgage Assistance 14 Relief Service” pursuant to 12 CFR § 1015.2.

VI. Conclusion

The instant action fails at the macro level. Plaintiff lacks standing, based on constitutional and statutory issues, to raise any of the claims asserted in this action. Since its inception, Plaintiff has destroyed Mr. Gordon’s legal publishing business and law practice, has seized his money to be paid to a receiver, has frozen his remaining assets, and has rendered him indigent and homeless. It is time to grant summary judgment, end this matter, and allow Mr. Gordon the start to rebuild his life and seek reparations.

Respectfully presented,
